Blue Devils receive the surprise of a lifetime

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

The Ridgeway-Crystal Beach Blue Devils received the surprise of a lifetime Monday when their practice was interrupted by Canadian Football League players.

Members of the Hamilton Tiger Cats, which included Anthony Woodson, Ray Holley, Bryan Hall, Mike Filler and Stephen Mawa, presented the high school football team with new equipment, including 60 helmets and 60 jerseys.

The new equipment, worth $15,000, was donated to the Blue Devils through the Nissan Kickoff Project.

In addition to presenting the team with new gear, the CFL players unveiled a mural in memory of their former coach, Calvin Nigh, who passed away last year, and spent time with the Blue Devils to give youths some tips and advice.

"This is awesome," Holley said about the opportunity to work with the Blue Devils. "I hope this means as much to the kids as it does to us."

Holley said he hoped to "inspire guys who don't think they have what it takes to play football."

"We're here to give the guys an up-close look at professional football and show them that if they work hard, they can have what it takes to play football."

To maintain the element of surprise, the recipients of the Nissan Kickoff Project are kept a secret until the teams are surprised on the field.

"Although I've tried to keep it quiet, there has been a buzz of excitement and this has translated into a fantastic recruitment of players to our program this season," said head coach Gary Pooler.

"A big part of that was winning the Calvin Nigh Trophy last season, but the Nissan Kickoff Project put it over the top in terms of numbers of players signing up."

"This season is also the first time the Blue Devils have offered a junior football program since 1973.

Pooler said students at the junior level have shown so much interest in getting involved that there would not have been enough equipment or uniforms to field both teams without support from the Nissan Kickoff Project.

"(This project) has already helped our team in so many ways, aside from the fantastic gifts they are giving us today," Pooler said.

"These kids are the future adult citizens of the town and I am so happy they all get to experience the joy of high school football!"

Pooler said 60 players have signed on to compete with the Blue Devils this season.

"That's 40 more kids than last year and 40 more kids from Ridgeway-Crystal Beach High School and Fort Erie High School receiving structure, discipline and responsibility every afternoon for two hours (during practice)."

Pooler described the Blue Devils' new uniforms as "awesome."

"It's a flashy new colour scheme," he said about the senior team's white uniforms.

"Ridgeway-Crystal Beach High School has never worn white jerseys before but they are such a generous gift and so cool looking, we're going with the new exciting colour scheme this season. Our junior team will wear blue!"

Schools are selected based on the greatest need in the region. Football coaches and local Nissan dealers who have heard of schools that could benefit from the program identify the candidates.

The Blue Devils were selected as recipients after competing in a football season they won't likely forget.

Steve Williams, a sales manager at Niagara Falls Nissan, said the Blue Devils were nominated by the coach of the St. Catharines Collegiate Saints.

Last year, the Blue Devils carried on after their coach passed away on the evening before the team's last game of the season.

The Blue Devils, who had been winless up until that point, won their last game of the season and went on to have an unbelievable run in the playoffs, and were named the Single A champions.

The Nissan Kickoff Project, which was created in 2004, gives Canadian youths the opportunity to experience the educational, developmental and social benefits that organized football provides. The project provides schools with equipment, uniforms and locker improvements as well as financial support for team costs such as fees and transportation. Recipients of the program are also given coaching insights and skills training from CFL players.

Williams said the program aims to "give something back to the community."

Last year, the Nissan Kickoff Project—formerly known as Back In The Game—supported 21 high school teams and approximately 1,000 students from 18 cities in six provinces.

This year, Ridgeway-Crystal Beach High School is one of 26 schools that will benefit from the project.

The Blue Devils could also be featured in a documentary about the trials and tribulations and achievement of one of this year's Nissan Kickoff Project recipients. The film will be created by David Grabias of Artfact Films.

Fort Erie to offer two new homes to families in need

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Habitat for Humanity Niagara is set to build two new homes in Fort Erie for families in need.

Alastair Davis, Habitat for Humanity Niagara's chief executive officer, said the two new single-family homes will be built at 531 Crescent Rd. In 2016, The land that the homes will be situated on was given to Habitat for Humanity Niagara by a private donor.

Enbridge has also committed $50,000 to help fund one of the two houses through the Enbridge Aboriginal Home Program. One of the houses will become a new home to a local eligible aboriginal family. The second home will be available to a Niagara family that qualifies.

Habitat for Humanity Niagara has been working on developing a better understanding of the housing challenges that aboriginal Canadians face on and off the reserve, while providing housing solutions for families in communities across Ontario through Habitat for Humanity Canada's Aboriginal Housing Program.

Davis made the announcement last Thursday afternoon at the Fort Erie Leisureplex and Banquet Hall. The announcement coincided with the Greater Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce Trade Show.

"These two new homes will mean the chance for a new beginning for our Habitat Partner families," Davis said.

"Without partners like Enbridge and the support of our Fort Erie community, we would not be able to make this opportunity happen for hard-working low-income Niagara families."

In 2013, Enbridge agreed to partner with Habitat for Humanity Niagara and the company is investing $1 million in the local charity's Aboriginal Housing Program over the course of the next five years.

As part of Habitat for Humanity's Aboriginal program, Enbridge is sponsoring 20 home builds for aboriginal families across Canada by 2017.

In addition to its financial commitment, Enbridge will also provide labour for the project through its Volunteers in Partnership initiative that supports contributions to charitable organizations by giving employees time off of work to volunteer.

The Town of Fort Erie, the Fort Erie Native Friendship Centre and the Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce are among other organizations that have also teamed up with Habitat for Humanity Niagara.

Davis said the organization will begin its formal family selection process next month to find two families to "call these new homes their homes."

"We do not give these homes away, contrary to what most may think," Davis said.

"These families will own these homes and repay a mortgage like anyone else. The difference is that a Habitat mortgage carries zero-interest and there is no downpayment required."

Davis said Habitat for Humanity is a "unique program" in that "it's a hand up, not a hand out."

"This is a proud day for Fort Erie," Mayor Wayne Redekop said. Redekop thanked Habitat for Humanity and the members of the Fort Erie Steering Committee that have been charged with the task of fund-raising $200,000 to build these new homes.

"There is nothing more satisfying than helping someone else," Redekop said, adding that he will volunteer his time to assist in the construction of the new homes.

"It'll certainly be there," he said.

Habitat for Humanity's mission is to gather local volunteers and establish community partners to help break the cycle of poverty by building affordable housing and promoting home ownership. The organization provides safe, decent housing and provides no-downpayment interest free mortgages to qualifying families who otherwise wouldn't be able to purchase their own homes.

Habitat for Humanity Niagara was established in 1993 and has constructed 46 homes in Niagara over the course of 22 years. The organization is part of a world-wide network that has built or repaired more than 600,000 homes in approximately 80 countries.

Point of View

Genuine action on refugee file good

It's noble to be moved by the heart, and necessary to be governed by the head.

Last weekend's announcement that the federal government will speed the relocation of 10,000 Syrian refugees to Canada is a welcome, concrete response to a humanitarian crisis that has captured the conscience of Canadians.

There has been an outpouring from our citizens, church groups, municipalities and provinces wanting to know, above all else, that we have done everything we can to avoid seeing more images like that of young Alan Kurdi lying dead on a Turkish beach.

Those hearts are in the right place. We are a nation of newcomers. We welcome those in need.

But if election campaigns are, as Prime Minister Kim Campbell was once quoted as saying, "no time to discuss issues of importance," they may be a worse time still to debate the details of the appropriate response to a human tragedy of this scale.

Petty politics have clouded this conversation from the beginning. This is not the fare for political stump speeches. These are matters of life and death that need a practical response.

What we as Canadians believe to be right, to be good, to be just, will always motivate our political policies.

But we need more than just goodwill. We need logical, thoughtful approaches.

When Liberal Leader Justin Trudeau calls for 25,000 refugees to be brought to Canada by year's end, we assume his heart is in the right place. But when he does not answer simple questions of how he would achieve that goal - other than to promise a dollar figure and to say his party will have "the political will," voters are left to question whether he can live up to his promises.

Immigration Minister Chris Alexander said Saturday that Canada will appoint a special co-ordinator to handle the file of Syrian and Iraqi refugees. More visa officers will be deployed overseas. Syrians will be assumed to qualify for refugee status unless there is specific proof they do not.

Are these measures enough? Perhaps not. But we are now seeing first steps to turn our collective goodwill into real, genuine action.

Do You Remember?

Our thanks to an anonymous caller and to Liz (Court) Reddon, one of the players, who phoned in to identify the photo of the Fort Erie Lions girls' softball travelling team. This photo taken in 1981 shows, from left (back) John Van Pot, assistant coach, Julie Honey, Rhonda Marade, Kim Fell, Lori Martin, head coach Doug Gravelle, (front) Cheryl Nevinger, Carrie Batah, Pam Boles, Liz Court, Pam Bell and Jackie Goding. Liz remembers what fun it was to play for this travelling team. Who are these pretty mads all in a row in this week's photo? The date stamp is Feb. 3, 1982. If you recognize yourself or anyone else in the photo please give us a call at 905-834-9818 or e-mail the Fort Erie Historical Museum at museum@forterie.on.ca.

Letter to the Editor

School name should recognize soldiers

Dear Editor, considering that a pivotal moment in Canadian history took place at Ridgeway, right after the American Civil War, an army of Irish soldiers called the Fenians fought a battle in Ridgeway, which spurred the provinces to unite and form a confederation called Canada. Canada will soon be 150 years old as a unified Country, in two Years.

I propose we should call our new school Battle Ridge Public School to honour our dead soldiers and the formation of our country, Canada.

This vast country was forged by brave soldiers who laid down their lives, so that we could live in peace and freedom.

Catch up on Emmy Award-winning television at the library

Amy Roebuck

Special to The Times

Game of Thrones, Veep, Mad Men, Orange is the New Black: what are these TV titles we all winners of 2015 Emmy Awards, for one thing. And they are all available in the DVD collection of the Fort Erie Public Library, for another.

If you missed any episodes, characters or (in the case of Game of Thrones) murders, you may visit any branch of the library or place a hold online at www.fepi.ca to catch up.

The books on which many of the dramatic series are based may also be found in the library. Lady Catherine and the real Downton Abbey by Fiona, Countess of Carnarvon and Jessica Fellowes' The World of Downton Abbey; Piper Kerman's Orange is the New Black; my year in a woman's prison and all the books in George R. R. Martin's A Song of Ice and Fire series are available with a library card.

Hoopla is another great way to access movies, books and music. It is a digital service available to all library cardholders. Hoopla is simple to access and use, and eliminates overdue fines and the need to return items. All you need is your library card and a web browser, smart phone or tablet to get started. More information is available on the website, or at any library branch.

Tonight's movie at the library is I'll See You in My Dreams, starring Blythe Danner, Sam Elliott, Martin Starr and Rhea Perlman. Dreams tells the story of a woman entering the dating world for the first time in two decades, who becomes swept up in two unexpected relationships that challenge her assumptions about what it means to grow old. The film begins tonight at 6:30 p.m. at the Centennial branch, and encores Tuesday, Sept. 29 at 2 p.m. at the Crystal Ridge branch. On Saturday, Oct. 3, there will be a family movie matinee at the Centennial branch beginning at 2:30 p.m. Max is an adventure story about a dog that helped soldiers in Afghanistan as he returns to the U.S. and is adopted by his handler's family, after suffering a traumatic experience.

Many regular offerings at the library are starting up again after a summer break.

Knitting lessons continue on Thursday evenings at the Crystal Ridge branch for ages eight to 14, and at the Centennial branch on Tuesday evenings for teens and adults. It all starts at 6:30 p.m., and all needed supplies are provided. Stories for two and three year-olds begin the week of Oct. 5, with sessions at the Steveston branch on Mondays, Oct. 5 and 19, beginning at 10:45 a.m.; and at the Crystal Ridge branch on Wednesdays at 10:30 a.m. On Tuesdays beginning Oct. 6, the Centennial branch will once again alternate Stories for twos and threes with a special Family Time offered in partnership with the Parenting and Family Literacy Centre. On Oct. 6, join us for an interactive and fun adventure including stories, songs and rhymes, plus activities and playtime for all ages, from babies on up. Stories for twos and threes and Family Time are free and offered as drop-in sessions, with no registration needed. There is truly something for all ages at the library.

Amy Roebuck is the community services coordinator at the Fort Erie Public Library.

Yoga class for babies and toddlers coming to Sanctuary

Nadine Pizzicarella
Special to The Times

I hope you are enjoying the beauty of fall.

The sun might not be as warm but she is shining on strong, so outside we shall go to soak up the fresh air for as long as we can because winter is coming soon.

We are excited to welcome two very talented people to The Sanctuary - Centre for the Arts.

Carly will be offering music and yoga for babies and toddlers four and under on Tuesdays from 9 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. beginning Sep. 22.

ning Sep. 22.

Take your child on a musical journey discovering different genres and hands-on access to instruments. Children gain exposure to an assortment of musical sounds, rhythms and baby sign language. Most important, you will be sharing the joy and love for music with your little one.

Enjoy the stress releasing power of music and yoga exercises. Five sessions will cost $65 ($15/ drop in). Please contact Carly Manly at carlymanley@gmail.com for more information. And don't worry if you missed the first class. You can still join in the fun.

Are you a musician at heart but rarely get a chance to work on your craft?

Then this one is for you. 'Old Man Rock Band' has been creating for mature amateur musicians - more than 35 years. Who would like to get back to their musical roots? (Little side note: This class is not gender specific.) The 10-session program will give you structured classes with practise, discussion and presentation slots in a caring and constructive environment.

At the end of the program, you get to show off your newly polished skills with a live performance. Feel like the rock star that you are for only $150. Check out www.oldman-rockband.com or email andy@oldman-rockband.com for more information.

Do you love German food and Bavarian inspired music? Then mark your calendars for Oct. 3. Brimstone Brewing Company is rolling out the barrel and inviting you to engage in a rather traditional Oktoberfest - Dirdl and all. From noon to 12 a.m. you get to indulge in Bavarian cuisine with 'Leckerleien' such as Weisswurst (Sausage) and Schweinsaxe (pig's leg) courtesy of our kitchen wif Chef Matt from Crave Local Fresh. All that meat will be delicious with 'Oktober-Faust' beer. To round up your experience, The Beer Barrel Band will entertain you with Bavarian style music.

Hop into your Lederhosen or Dirdl and come down to The Sanctuary for Oktoberfest in Ridgeway - I mean after you visit the annual Fall Harvest Festival downtown of course.

Melanie Pyke is offering an Acrylic Painting Workshop on Oct. 3 from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. if you are feeling rather artistic. This workshop is ideal for beginners and intermediates exploring different mediums and techniques. You will also have the chance to complete a still life painting as well as a larger painting with your choice of subject. $50 includes all materials and refreshments.

Fort Erie residents warns of tax scam

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

When Steve Burak received the first of two phone calls from an individual claiming to work for the Canada Revenue Agency last week, he knew something was not right.

The Fort Erie resident said the fraudster told him that he owed taxes and needed to "call back right away."

He was told that failure to pay would result in his arrest.

Burak said he knew the phone calls were part of a tax scam so he ignored it. He also called the Canada Revenue Agency to make sure his personal information was safe.

"I want to let other people know about what happened to me," Burak said.

"I think it's important that the elderly be made aware of these scams,"

Sgt. Paul Spiridi said the Niagara Regional Police have received a number of tax scam complaints and issued a warning to Niagara residents last month.

"This has been going on like crazy since July before tax season. It's been non-stop," Spiridi said.

Victims have been contacted by e-mail, or phone. They are asked for personal information which includes banking information and social insurance numbers.

Payment is demanded through the purchase of prepaid credit cards or e-mail transfer.

"The first thing people need to remember is Canada Revenue Agency is not going to call in order to arrest anyone. If you think you owe money, call. Look up the agency's web site and find the number."

Do not rely on the phone numbers provided by the caller, mail or e-mail sender, and never click on a link in an e-mail.

He said the Canada Revenue Agency never requests personal information by e-mail.

While Canada Revenue Agency does contact people by phone, scammers can spoof phone numbers to appear as if the number belongs to Canada Revenue Agency.

If a person realizes they are being targeted in a tax scam, "the best thing to do is hang up and ignore it."

"I wouldn't antagonize them and argue with them," Spiridi said. "If you lose money in a tax scam, give us a call and file a police report. Every police agency is aware of it."

Spiridi said these tax scams are "not isolated in Niagara or Canada." There are also a problem in the U.S.

"They (scammers) try to create a sense of fear and they are hoping to people that aren't aware," Spiridi said.

"They try to create this sense of panic to get you to give up."

Others relate how people judge them because they just smile. Missing teeth really do affect how we live our daily lives - socially and emotionally. And why is this? The answer is simple if you think about it. We use our mouths in so many ways every single day we talk with our mouths, we laugh with our mouths, we smile, we sing, we eat, we kiss.

The mouth is how we get our sustenance. If our mouths are full of infection and disease, this is what we're swallowing along with our food every single day. Many people are also not aware that gum disease (also known as periodontal disease) is contagious. We pass it along to everyone we kiss or share dishes with.

Studies show that the first two things people notice about us are our eyes and our smiles. Even if we don't care what others think about us, it can affect our relationships, our careers and how people remember us. No one really wants to be known as "that person with the really bad teeth" - do they?

So now we know what happens to us emotionally, but what happens to us physically when we lose teeth? Missing teeth are shown to lead to bone loss, teeth shifting causing gaps between teeth, bite changes and facial changes (shorter face and more collapsed facial tone). Teeth need each other to keep them in place. Shifting teeth cause bite changes which can lead to periodontal disease and TMJ (Temporomandibular Joint) problems.

Good news is there is a way to address these issues with different replacement options including dental implants. Please contact your dentist and learn about your different implant options.

Scott Heron will be sentenced Nov. 27 for cheese smuggling

Tony Ricciuto
Postmedia Network

Niagara Regional Police Const. Scott Heron has been found guilty of four criminal charges that include conspiracy to smuggle cheese and chicken wings across the border from the United States into Canada.

Heron, 42, had been charged with six counts, three of which related to the Customs Act, and three breach of trust charges that related to his duties as a police officer.

Heron was found guilty on all three of the charges laid under the Customs Act, but only one breach of trust charge.

Justice James Ramsay delivered his decision on Friday following a five-day trial in the Superior Court of Justice in Welland.

The Crown's case depended heavily on the evidence of former NRP Const. Geoff Purdie who lost his job in April 2013 following his conviction in a Buffalo courtroom on a charge of conspiracy to smuggle steroids from the United States into Canada.

Purdie received a sentence of one year in jail, which he served in an American prison. Part of his plea agreement with U.S. officials was that he would testify in court about the cheese smuggling operation.

Court heard how Heron would phone in the cheese orders to a Buffalo pizza supply company, Purdie would pick them up in his truck and drive back across the Peace Bridge in Fort Erie. He was never stopped at the border because in addition to his passport, he would show his warrant card, which identified him as a police officer.

The investigation began in January 2012 and involved Niagara police, U.S. Department of Homeland Security, and the Canada Border Services Agency.

The initial investigation focused on Purdie's cross-border activities and it led to the large-scale cheese and chicken wings smuggling operation.

The judge said he believed Purdie was telling the truth, in spite of his character as a drug smuggler. His evidence was also confirmed by the testimony of other witnesses who testified at trial, along with some of the documents that had been presented, which included phone records and purchase invoices from a Buffalo pizza supply company.

Ramsay said Purdie was the main transporter of the cheese and chicken wings. Heron would phone in the orders and Purdie would cross the border shortly after to pick up the order. The two men would phone each other once the order was in Canada and it would be dropped off at Heron's residence where it was kept in the garage.

The judge found Heron to be the organizer of the cheese smuggling operation, and two other people were the salesmen who would approach restaurants and pizzerias to see if they wanted to make any purchases.

The breach of trust count related to Heron using the Canadian Police Information Centre, commonly known as CPIC, for an unauthorized purpose.

After hearing that Purdie might have been followed during one of his cross border trips, Heron punched in the licence plate of the pickup truck that was being used to smuggle the cheese to see if any police or other government agencies had run that plate in recent days.

Ramsay said Heron was not acting for the public good when he went looking for that information, he benefited by knowing what was going on.

Defence lawyer Michael DeGobbo said his client was disappointed by the judge's decision, but will now wait for the sentencing.

"We will move on to sentencing and hopefully it doesn't include a jail sentence," said DeGobbo, who plans to ask for a substantial fine instead.

NRP Deputy Chief Bryan MacCullagh, who attended court on Friday, said he is never happy to hear of incidents such as this, but that 99 per cent of their officers do a great job.

He said Heron's Police Act charges have been deferred until the criminal charges have been concluded.

Heron will return to court Nov. 27 for sentencing. He remains out of custody while awaiting sentence.

NRP Chief Jeff McGuire issued a statement following the court's decision.

The chief said "the involvement of any police officer in criminal activity is unacceptable. The facts upon which Scott Heron was convicted today are disturbing and his conviction tarnishes the reputation of the entire service."

He noted incidents like this "shake the confidence the public has in the police" but he reminds residents that the "behaviour and actions exhibited by Scott Heron, and others involved with him, are not reflective of the men and women who work in accordance with their oath every single day."

The chief said he assures the public the NRPS will continue to work to rebuild and maintain the trust of the community.

Cheese Case:

- A case of cheese that cost about $300 in Canada, could be purchased for about $200 in the U.S.
- More than $141,000 in product had been purchased.
- About $325,000 in duties had been evaded.
- According to the CBSA, travellers can bring back, duty free, $20 or 20 kilograms in total (whichever limit is reached first) of dairy products.
- It must also be for personal consumption. If it is used for commercial purposes a permit is required and duties are charged accordingly.

Walk in support of the animals

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

All local canines and their human companions are encouraged to take a stroll in support of the Fort Erie SPCA.

The animal shelter will be holding the 5th annual SPCA Dog Walk-A-Thon on Sunday, Sept. 27 at Waverly Beach.

"Everyone is invited," says Robyn Voyce, the shelter's assistant manager. "On the day of the walk, anyone can walk. It doesn't matter how much you raise. All you have to do is bring your pledge sheets with you."

Registration will begin at 10:30 a.m., followed by the walk at 11 a.m.

Pledge sheets are available at the Fort Erie SPCA, 410 Jarvis St.

Voyce said the annual walk is one of the biggest fundraisers of the year for the SPCA. All of the proceeds are used for shelter improvements and animal care.

Students who raise more than $50 in pledges will receive eight hours of volunteer service that can be used toward their required community service hours.

Tax receipts will be issued for donations of $20 or more.

The event will feature prizes for the most pledges, and refreshments for participants.

For more information, call the Fort Erie SPCA at 905-871-2461 or e-mail info@forterietimes.ca.

MPP Wayne Gates wants to protect shoreline access

Ray Spiteri
Postmedia Network

Niagara Falls NDP MPP Wayne Gates is trying to finish what former Liberal MPP Kim Craitor started.

Gates' private member's bill to create a right of passage along the shoreline of the Great Lakes, between the water's edge and the high-water mark, passed second reading at Queen's Park last Thursday.

The purpose of the bill was discussed in the provincial legislature and still has to go through more steps before it may be given royal assent and become law, including public hearings and a third reading.

Known as Bill 118, or the Great Lakes Shoreline Right of Passage Act, Gates wants the majority Liberal government to guarantee the public's right to walk along the Great Lakes waterfront from the water's edge up to the high water mark.

Craitor brought a similar bill forward in 2007, but it was interrupted by an election, prorogation and never became law.

Gates said while there is no law prohibiting people from walking along beaches, there is nothing to prevent private property owners from building fences "right down into the water to stop people from walking along the shorelines."

He said his bill would forbid the creation of fences or signs from prohibiting the right of passage.

Gates said it does not mean the province is taking ownership of shoreline properties, or that walkers would own beachfront properties.

"This bill would not allow people to stop on private property and set up a tent and stay for a while," he said, adding motor vehicles would also not be allowed.

"It would simply allow them to walk along the shoreline of the Great Lakes."

Access to the shore would have to be over public lands and not over private property above the high water mark, said Gates.

"This will preserve our Great Lakes for future generations. We have to find a compromise here and this bill is the beginning of that compromise."

This is Gates' first private member's bill since he was elected MPP during the February 2014 election to replace Craitor, who resigned.

Gates said when he knocked on doors in Fort Erie during that campaign, he realized how important this issue was with residents, who believe private landowners have been limiting public access to Lake Erie's waterfront.

He said residents have become frustrated with the building of fences to prohibit people from walking the shoreline on Lake Erie.

"This is a big issue in Fort Erie and in my riding, and this is a fair request that would allow all people to enjoy the Great Lakes across Ontario," said Gates.

"When fences are put up all the way to the water line, it creates a lot of conflict. It divides communities, it divides property owners."

Things to consider when fall gardening

Mulching – Fall is a great time to mulch your perennial garden. Adding a thick layer of mulch helps to retain more moisture in the soil that your perennial plants need throughout the winter months. It also creates an insulation barrier to help prevent freezing and thawing in the soil which can be detrimental to a plants life cycle. When the ground warms up the plant starts to grow, then when it freezes again it can shock the roots and cause rot.

Over seeding your lawn – Late summer months is the best time to seed a lawn. After all the sun and heat of the summer the ground temperatures are nice and warm, the air temperatures are starting to drop to a more tolerable level, and we usually start to get more rain showers for irrigation. All of these combined create perfect germinating conditions for new seed. Also don't forget a good quality fall fertilizer for your existing lawn. It helps with strong root development which means more of your lawn will survive the cold winter and also green up faster in the spring.

Fort Erie charities hit the jackpot in funding

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Thirty-five of Fort Erie's charities and service organizations have hit the jackpot. Since the launch of the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation's Charitable Gaming Revitalization Initiative in Fort Erie last January, approximately $1 million has been delivered to local charities including Big Brothers Big Sisters of South Niagara, Squadron 337 Air Cadets, Meals on Wheels, the Salvation Army Food Bank, as well as local sports programs and scholarship programs.

The goal of the initiative is to ensure local charities have a viable way to fundraise, support local programs, enhance charitable operations and support employment at gaming centres.

On Saturday, Golden Nugget Bingo volunteers and staff, along with representatives from the OLG, the Ontario Charitable Gaming Association and the Commercial Gaming Association of Ontario gathered at the impact of charitable gaming revenues on local programs.

Political dignitaries including Fort Erie Mayor Wayne Redekop, Regional Councillor Sandy Annunziata and MP Rob Nicholson were in attendance.

"Charities and not-for-profits provide vital service in each and every community across the province," said Lynn Cassidy, executive director of the Ontario Charitable Gaming Association.

"These services are possible in part due to the vast network of dedicated staff and volunteers at charitable gaming centres. It is our goal to see this support in our communities continue and grow in years to come."

"This is a fantastic day for Fort Erie," Redekop said.

He thanked the volunteers who give their time to support local charities by running bingo as well as everyone involved in the Charitable Gaming Revitalization Initiative.

"Each of these organizations have volunteers who spend many hours here," he said. "We can't underestimate the significance of these revenues to our community," he added.

Golden Nugget Bingo now offers customers a choice of new electronic bingo games and break-open tickets, or traditional paper-based games.

The introduction of new gaming follows a successful 2005 pilot program that introduced bingo to six sites in five communities in Ontario and resulted in a significant revenue increase for local communities. Since the launch of the pilot program, more than $94 million in additional funds has been raised for charities in Ontario.

Approximately $1 million in funding has been delivered to 35 charities in Fort Erie including the Salvation Army Food Bank and Meals on Wheels through the Ontario Lottery and Gaming Corporation's Charitable Gaming Revitalization Initiative, which was launched in January 2014.

Driver injured in collision involving a backhoe

A driver of a blue 2009 Hyundai Accent was transported to hospital with serious injuries after the car collided with a backhoe Tuesday morning.

Niagara Regional Police, the Fort Erie Fire Department and Niagara Emergency Medical Services responded to a report of a collision on Bowen Road at the corner of Pettit Road at 8:53 a.m.

Const. Phil Gavin said both vehicles were travelling westbound on Bowen Road when the driver of the backhoe stopped to turn left onto Pettit Road.

The collision occurred when the driver of the Hyundai Accent attempted to pass the backhoe as it was turning and collided with it.

"The investigation remains with uniform officers from the Fort Erie Office of the Niagara Regional Police Service," Gavin said.

The portion of Bowen Road at Pettit Road was closed to the public for about an hour and a half.

Charges are pending.

Each quilt tells its own story

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Each one of Nina Stahlschmidt's quilts tells a story.

The Niagara quilter, who owned her own shop in Pelham during the 1980s, makes her quilts from cotton feed bags.

"Feed bags were what were used to put groceries in before they had paper and plastic," Stahlschmidt explained.

"After these bags were used, they were recycled into other things. They were made into night gowns, underwear, dresses and were even used as feminine hygiene products."

From 1750 to

1970, feedbags were used to package food staples such as flour, sugar, salt, soap, animal feed, seed and grain. The bag replaced the wooden barrel that the flour industry had been using to ship their product.

Stahlschmidt is always on the hunt for feedbags because they "are vintage" and "interesting."

Stahlschmidt was the featured guest during Quilts: The Stories They Tell, which was held last Wednesday at Stevensville Memorial Hall.

The full-day event was organized through a joint partnership between the Bertie Historical Society, the Bowen Road Women's Institute, the Fort Erie Public Library and the Fort Erie Historical Museum.

Stahlschmidt led a workshop on how to make a quilt using a feedbag. Following the workshop, the public was invited to attend a quilt exhibit. The evening concluded with a lecture given by Stahlschmidt.

In addition to making quilts and clothing out of feed bags, Stahlschmidt is an author and shares the stories of many Canadian quilters in her book Canadian Feed Bags: Recycled Then and Now.

During times of war, or during the Great Depression when money was tight, Stahlschmidt said the thrifty housewife would use her skills to create whatever she needed out of a feed bag, whether it was clothing, a quilt, or even curtains.

Cream-coloured bags were the most common, but they also came in a variety of florals, checks, stripes or dots with information glued to the exterior of the feedbags.

Stahlschmidt scours the country looking for antique dealers that sell the feedbags she uses to make quilts.

"It's a lot of fun to make them. It's something that I enjoy doing."

Fire department to replace old pumper

Town staff have recommended that council approve a decision to purchase a new pumper to replace one of the Fort Erie Fire Department's aging pumps.

Staff have suggested purchasing a new pumper from Dependable Emergency Vehicles of Brampton for $623,366.76.

According to a report presented to councillors during Monday's council-in-committee meeting, Pump 6, which is 21 years-old, "has reached the end of its useful life and is starting to experience mechanical issues that are increasingly difficult to repair due to the availability of parts."

The report also stated "once a front-line pumper has reached this age, its reliability starts to deteriorate."

A committee of firefighters assisted with the design of the vehicle, which included specifications of the various components that make up the vehicle. These components reflect new industry standards.

Fire Chief Larry Coplen said the old pumper could be sold but "it wouldn't go for very much," or it could be donated to a country in need, which is "something that the Town has done in the past."

Cannons headed for the final series

Austin Gooder
Special to The Times

The Fort Erie Cannons are on their way to the Niagara District Senior Men's Baseball Association's final series for the first time in the team's history after an epic marathon win against the Niagara Falls Expos.

Tied 1-1 going into the ninth inning of the extra-innings game, the Cannons were able to rally for three runs off a home run from Gary Moraes last Wednesday to propel themselves to the NDBA finals.

The team can thank their cast of recurring stars for shining during the game, but what proved most important was the cohesiveness of the team's defensive and offensive attacks.

Starter Zac Porter was solid again for the Cannons, throwing six innings and allowing only six base-runners. He made strike out four. Porter has been part of the starting pitching tandem with starter Cam Hall that has solidified the team's chances at NDBA success.

Hall threw an inning of relief in the seventh.

The Cannons were able to push through against the dominant Expos' pitching staff in the ninth inning, where Matt Pine hit a two-out double to spark the definitive rally.

The Expos' pitcher walked slugger Nick Weglarz to set up the force and to avoid the chance of another massive Weglarz home run.

This all set the stage for unheralded Cannons slugger Gary Moraes. He deposited a fastball over the left field fence, scoring three and putting the Cannons ahead for good on the night. Moraes hit the home run off of Expos ace Kevin Niven.

Moraes has been a great hitter for a Cannons team full of great hitters. His offensive contributions sometimes went unnoticed behind Giampolo and Weglarz, but the hit Moraes delivered was one of the biggest in team history.

Matt Pine would work around a double on the mound in the ninth inning to clinch the win for the Cannons.

The Cannons began their final series against the Merrittton Alliance in Merrittton on Tuesday. Results from Tuesday's game were not available before press deadline.

The Cannons return home tonight to play the Alliance at 7:30 p.m.

If game three is needed it will be played in Merrittton, again at 8:30 p.m.

Rio Vista Retirees results

A total of 53 golfers turned out last week for the Rio Vista Retiree League. The weather was perfect and the course surrendered a large number of birdies.

The format was a two man scramble requiring a minimum of four drives each. Even though this format makes it a little tougher to score low, it seems to be the most popular among the players.

Before the matches began the draws were held. Cliff Wilson won the 50/50 and Mel Annett got the mystery prize. The hidden hole was the par five first and only two groups managed birdies.

Closest to the pin on number seven was Al Plato who beat Warren Hanks by an inch. Only seven golfers managed to get their drives on the green. Ken Lamalche had the shot of the day chipping in a birdie from 20 feet out on second hole. Wednesday was the last game for getting points and was a four man scramble. Results from Wednesday were not available before press deadline.

The last day of the season will be on Sep.30 starting at 9 a.m. followed with a luncheon.

We will also be playing the yearly championship that, competing for low gross and low net scores.

Matthew, an Ontario Works recipient, came to the furniture bank last summer. He was very grateful to receive items for his place that help with day to day living necessities. In October Matthew returned to donate the table and chairs he received. He expressed appreciation and joy, he was finally able to afford a brand new table and chairs. Matthew wanted the old set to go to someone who could benefit from it as much as he had. This program reduces poverty's isolating effect, improves quality of sleep and increases the possibility of eating healthy, home cooked meals.

Sarah was so shy she could not make any friends. She avoided the other children and stood alone at recess. The school knew she was intelligent but she did not participate in class. Sarah was matched with a very outgoing, fun loving young adult through the In School Mentoring Program. Six years later they are now a traditional match. The Big Sister coaxed Sarah out of her shell by making every situation entertaining. Sarah applied for a part time job and is now excelling in high school both socially and academically. Sarah's in a United Way funded program through Big Brothers Big Sisters of Niagara Falls.

"When my family came to Canada we did not know what to do. We were really scared. Many of us have left our country in fear. The centre helped us step by step. It was hard at first and now it is getting easier. They arranged for someone who speaks my language to drive me to a doctor appointment. During the long drive we got to know each other and now we are friends." The United Way funded program through Fort Erie Multicultural Centre is meeting those early essential needs and continues developing the relationship to ensure long term integration.

The Fort Erie Fire Department held its annual Community Safety Day at the Fort Erie Leisureplex last Saturday. The free family event offered free rides approximately 100-feet up in a ladder truck, hands-on fire hose demonstrations, an Ontario Provincial Police simulator and a Royal Canadian Mounted Police vessel. Those in attendance also had a chance to get a close-up look at the Fort Erie Fire Department's vehicles. Five-year-old Ethan Lewis waited for his turn to use the fire hose. Ask a Lawyer

Q My husband and I want to get a Joint Will done. I thought that meant that we get one Will done between us. He says that I am wrong and that we each have to have our own Will. Who is right?

A I receive many enquiries with this same question. Many couples eventually want the same "end" result in their will, and therefore think that they just need one will to carry out their wishes. For example, each of the husband and wife wants the other to be the beneficiary of their estate, but when the second of them passes, they want the estate to be divided between their children in equal shares. Although the wills are similar, each of the spouses needs to have their own will. Both spouses need to keep in mind, however, that they each have the right to change their own will at any time, as long as they are mentally competent to do so. This may lead to a different result if one of the spouses remarries after the death of the first.

Q - My hair is unruly, frizzy, unmanageable, and takes a long time to dry. What can I do to repair my Hair?

A - A Hair smoothing Treatment is one of the most effective ways of treating your hair to a silk smooth finish. However there are many smoothing treatments that are not of the best quality. Goldwell Kerastik smoothing treatment is the first customizable, long lasting Keratin smoothing service. The result is manageable hair, softer curls, no frizz and most importantly it reduces your daily styling time significantly.

ASK THE EXPERT

- A What are the 5 skills for success?
1. The 5 skills needed for success can be categorized into six skills needed in an entrepreneurial success.
- B People skills - The way people with people will determine the success of your business. Good manners, politeness and discretion will encourage repeat business.
- C Financial skills - A healthy interest in money is a good financial interest. You will need a good deal of your money, so there is no point in having your first before making a decision.
- D Marketing skills - You have to be financially knowledgeable in the business world. Otherwise, how can you understand the overall concept of how business and the economy of profitability.
- E Communication skills - The way it communicates with clients, customers, bank managers, insurance companies, or various suppliers. You must be able to give your money and needs customer satisfaction.
- F Marketing skills - Without a sound knowledge of marketing, you will not have any customers. Marketing is a result in the ability to communicate to your potential customer and drive sales of your products or services.

Q How can we be guaranteed that a funeral is the tribute that we wish.

A Really that's as easy as letting your funeral director know what you want, or if you are unsure, ask for assistance in getting ideas on how to achieve this. Funerals are meant to be a comfort to the living, and by surrounding yourself with fond memories and visual reminders a funeral will often become a celebration. Bring in pictures, artifacts and memories that help to do this and let your funeral professional assist in putting it all together.

Ask The Expert

Q Is there a penalty for businesses not remitting source deductions or GST/HST?

A The Income Tax Act and the Excise Tax Act require businesses to hold these amounts in trust for the government. Funds held in trust are not to be used as an alternate source of cash for businesses. Failure to remit may result in penalties and interest charges. Small business firms are allowed annual filing of GST/HST. At the end of a December year end and has to remit by the following June 15. We see this as being a potential problem for example a restaurant that collects a large amount of GST/HST at 13% but does not pay many expenses that have GST/HST that can be deducted in food cost and wages. It is a slow economy entities that do not allow for this quickly fall behind. We strongly suggest good bookkeeping to keep track of this obligation and possibly setting these funds aside in a separate bank account. Better yet file monthly.

Brick for motorized scooters

A brick for the seniors who persist in driving their mobility scooters on Ridge Road within the business district of Ridgeway. They surely are a traffic hazard and risk their own death.

Brick for youths who litter

A brick for people who feel it is necessary to leave their garbage in our parking lot. Week after week, we have to clean up litter in our parking lot. But this week topped them all. This week, I witnessed two young gentlemen enjoying their slurpees, cupcakes and chips while sitting along the side of our building in our parking lot. When I came in the next day, I was so pleased to see you had left your half-empty slurpee cups, half eaten cupcakes and bags of chips sitting there for us to clean up. All you had to do was pick them up and walk across the parking lot to put your garbage in the two garbage bins there. But for some reason, you couldn't be bothered to do this. Please stop being so darn lazy and inconsiderate.

Bouquet for Chamber of Commerce

A bouquet for the Fort Erie Chamber of Commerce. What a great trade show held again this year by the Fort Erie Chamber Commerce. It is so great to network with other businesses and clients, munch on some delicious food and shop around. We especially enjoyed the Native Centre presentation. Thanks again!

Brick for dog owners who don't care for their animals

A brick for dog owners who let their dogs bark all the time. Why do people think they can allow their dogs to bark in the early a.m. and wake people up. Why do they also think it's OK to let them bark every time they're out? These neighbours have not learned to train their dogs properly and should be more considerate of others. Our neighbourhood used to be peaceful and quiet. It is no longer that.

Brick for neighbours who mow their lawns on Sunday mornings

A brick for Sunday morning neighbours mowing their lawns.

Bouquet for caring residents

A bouquet to the Crystal Beach couple who donned hip waders and rubber gloves to spend their weekend cleaning the ditch that runs along the wooded roadside, on Schooley Avenue between Rebstock and Michener Roads. This corridor is a favourite spot for drive by dumpers who discard garbage bags and all manner of trash. The cleaners told me they even found a pregnancy test. Their pickup truck was loaded to capacity. Kudos to you both for your community pride.

Send your bricks & bouquets to:

Fine Dining!

While getting the seed blends right is important, so is using the proper type of feeder, depending on how various birds eat. For example, the Northern Cardinal has a shorter neck, so can't easily feed sitting on a tiny perch—they need more of a 'platform'. The ideal feeder is durable enough to withstand winter weather and squirrels, tight enough to keep seeds dry, simple to assemble and, most important of all, easy to keep clean.

What's the best one you ask? The 5-star bird diner has a variety of feeders—to entice a variety of birds. Keep in mind though, that in a contest, practically wins out every time over pretty. While there are loads of feeders you can spend money on, you don't have to have deep pockets. You can also build your own. There are lots of DIY feeder ideas online. This would be a terrific project that your kids can help with too. You'll be spending quality time as a family, creating something useful & worthwhile and you'll be learning something new all while being entertained. Now that's all-around great value!

Gabriel Todd is Vice-Chair of Communitas in Bloom

HOPPER FEEDERS

- > protects seeds fairly well against the weather and bird droppings
- > attractive to most feeder birds but be alert to ensure seed doesn't get wet (bacteria and fungus can thrive)
- > can hold enough seed to last for several days, making it convenient
- > can be pole-mounted or suspended
- > needs baffle is important to deter squirrels

TRAY FEEDERS

- > attracts biggest variety of birds
- > should have a screen instead of solid bottom for drainage (remove for regular & frequent cleaning)
- > offers minimal protection from rain or snow if there is a roof
- > placed near ground will attract ground-feeding birds & critters
- > can also be mounted on deck railings, posts, & stumps or suspended

TUBE FEEDERS

- > keep seed fairly clean & dry
- > attracts small birds, limiting larger ones
- > styles with perches above feeding ports are for birds can eat hanging upside down (goldfinches, chickadees)
- > when replenishing food, empty old seed first then add fresh

NYLON FEEDERS (also called Thistles)

- > has very small feeding ports or made of mesh
- > seed can become wet (vigilance needed—remove wet seed to prevent mold & bacteria)
- > won't sprout—is sterilized prior to coming into N. America)

Some MPPs voiced concern for bill

When Craitor introduced the bill, some landowners voiced concerns that—if approved—the law could have negative side effects on their private property, such as infringing on private property rights, and could lead to trespassing and create safety problems.

Some MPPs in the legislature voiced similar concerns, adding while the proposed bill may be well intentioned, there will be many people who will see it as "expropriation without compensation."

St. Catharines Liberal MPP Jim Bradley said Gates' bill is "worthy of consideration" and looks forward to further debate.

He said he expects to hear "significant arguments" for and against the bill as it goes through committee hearings, where a compromise might be able to be found.

Bradley said some will believe private property rights should "trump everything else," while others will believe the government should do more to ensure public access.

"I hope this matter can be resolved. It's a dynamic situation. This legislature ultimately will decide on the final disposition of this bill."

Mistakes cost Meteors during home opener

Sarah Ferguson
Fort Erie Times

Having the home-ice advantage didn't help the Fort Erie Meteors secure a victory over the Welland Junior Canadians.

Fort Erie's Junior B team lost 4-3 to the Canadians during the Meteors' home opener last Saturday night at the Fort Erie Lésureplex in Greater Ontario Junior Hockey League action.

According to head coach Rob Hubbert, the Meteors "deserved better fate."

"I thought (Saturday) we were on pucks. Hands down, we out-played Welland. I thought we played hard. There is no way they out-played us," Hubbert said.

The Meteors couldn't capitalize on some opportunities and made "three mistakes which cost (the Meteors) and goals ended up in (their) net."

"I think we've got to learn to get pucks in deep. We had guys, three or four times, not get pucks in deep," Hubbert said.

"If you don't win those battles along the wall and you don't get the puck in deep and you don't get the pucks to the net, you're not going to win games."

Fort Erie's Holden Garland, a first-year forward, scored his first goal of the season and the first goal of the night 12:29 in the first period. Anthony Passero and Zach Stamaties assisted Garland.

The Meteors led the Canadians 1-0 into the second period. Cole Hamilton scored Welland's first goal 4:29 in the second period. Jack Fitzgerald scored a second goal for Welland on a power play at 8:32.

Culin Garrell, a first-year forward for the Meteors, tied the game on a power play with assists from Passero and Garland.

Welland's Brayden Crowder broke the tie at 11:57 in the third period. With less than a minute left on the clock, Cameron Aitken secured the victory for the Canadians when he scored a goal on an empty net.

With less than 30 seconds left on the clock in the final period, a time out gave Hubbert an opportunity to organize a play in an attempt for the Meteors to put a last-minute point on the scoreboard.

First-year forward Daniel Slinger picked up the final point for the Meteors on a power play at 19:37.

"We had a play set up and we capitalized on that, which is fantastic," Hubbert said.

Fort Erie incurred six minutes in the penalty box on three infractions. Welland incurred 22 minutes on seven infractions.

Brayden Lachance saved 17 shots on Fort Erie's net while Welland veteran Chris Janzen saved 24 of 27 shots on his team's net.

Hubbert said the Meteors had some work to do before the team hits the ice to play Ancaster Avalanche at the Morgan Firestone Arena on Thursday.

"You know what, we're going to make mistakes and I am okay with that. But, it can't be shift after shift. If you don't learn, then you sit on the bench," he said.

The results from Thursday's game were not available before press deadline. Visit www.forterietimes.ca for up-to-date information.

Fort Erie Times
Advertising Representative

The Advertising department of The Fort Erie Times has an immediate opening for a sales professional to complement our outside sales team during a maternity leave of absence.

The selected individual must be an ideas person and understand that their role is to develop and implement advertising solutions through multi platforms including in-paper and on-line that will benefit The Fort Erie Times advertisers. The achievement focused individual will be committed to customer satisfaction and be a motivated self-starter who is able to achieve and exceed sales budgets.

You will inherit a blend of an established account base with the on-going expectation of developing new business (cold calls). With those accounts, you will develop effective advertising packages/partnerships to meet client needs and deliver sound results.

We are looking for an individual who can meet the following qualifications:

- The ability to develop long-term effective advertising solutions for established and new customers
- Proven track record in sales with superior prospecting and closing skills
- A talent for strategic thinking with an entrepreneurial edge and the ability to identify opportunity
- Exceptional communication and presentation skills, in both one-on-one and group settings
- Be a multi tasker with the ability to prioritize work within a deadline-driven environment
- A commitment to exceptional customer service and follow-through

Interested applicants can submit their resume no later than Friday, Sept. 18th 2015 to the attention of:

EVERS, Margaret - Margaret passed away unexpectedly at home on Tuesday, September 15th, 2015 at the age of 90. Predeceased by husbands William DeHeus and Hubert Evers. Cherished mother of Jerry (Fluth) DeHeus. Loving grandmother of Auedrah (DeHeus). Also survived by many nieces, nephews and cousins. She will be fondly remembered by her many wonderful neighbours, her dear friends and the members of the Joyce family. Predeceased by her daughter-in-law Barb and her siblings. Margaret was an active member of the community, volunteering at Gilmore Lodge and singing with the First Baptist Church Choir and His Signature Singers. Many will recall her love of dancing. BENNER FUNERAL SERVICES, 1105 Benner Ave., Fort Erie entrusted with arrangements. The family will receive friends on Thursday, September 17th from 7-9 pm. Funeral Services will be held at the First Baptist Church (Bertie and Central) in Fort Erie on Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment to follow. If so desired, donations to the First Baptist Church would be appreciated by the family.

In Memoriams

In Memoriams

In loving memory of Janet Purvis
who passed away
September 15, 1994.

The depths of sorrow we cannot tell.

*Of the loss of one we loved so well,
And while she sleeps a peaceful sleep
Her memory we shall always keep.*

The Purvis Family

"There we have don't grieve, they walk beside us every day. Unseen, yet always near. But loved, still around and very dear."

HARTMANN, Friedrich Karl - Passed away at Douglas Memorial Hospital, Fort Erie on September 16, 2015 at the age of 96. Fred was born in Pankten, Kreis Proussisch Eylau-East Prussia (Germany) on January 15, 1929. Survived by his wife Edith (née Seelmeier) and daughters Linda (Paul) McDonald, Christine Hartmann and Elizabeth (Anthony) Oleksuk. Also survived by grandsons Spencer McDonald, Noah McDonald, Henry Oleksuk and Elias Oleksuk. Predeceased by his parents Wilhelm Friedrich Hartmann & Elisabeth Hartmann (née Tiedtke). Special thanks to Dr. Dath of Juravinski Hospital, and to Dr. Kim, Dr. Scher and the nurses and staff at Douglas Memorial Hospital, Fort Erie for their care. At Fred's request cremation has taken place and a private family service will be held. Arrangements entrusted to NIAGARA FUNERAL ALTERNATIVES, 905-894-0120.
